Before joining Kümmerlein Rechtsanwälte & Notare Albrecht von Loewenich was inhouse counsel at different divisions of the VEBA-Group (today E.ON) for more than ten years. Due to this extensive experience he knows the clients' perspective. From the start of his activities at Kümmerlein Rechtsanwälte & Notare Albrecht von Loewenich worked, as also before on company-side, in the areas of company law and general commercial law. Albrecht von Loewenich particularly supports companies on transactional and restructuring work. Due to his good command of the English language he in particular is suited to assists his clients on cross-border projects. Since 2009 he also supports banks regarding the implementation of new credit-law requirements.

Curriculum Vitae

Albrecht von Loewenich has always given special attention to the international aspects of legal work. Following his law studies in Bonn he worked as research associate at the Institute for Private International Law and Law of Civil Procedure of Prof. Jochen Schröder. After the start of his career in the legal department of Raab Karcher AG and having received special power of attorney in 1993 he was further trained at London Business School in 1994 and 1998. In the course of his work for different legal departments Albrecht von Loewenich was authorised officer (Prokurist) at Raab Karcher AG Veba Immobilien Management (1998) and, later on, Legal Counsellor Europe of the Veba Electronics Group. Once this group was sold, he joined Kümmerlein Rechtsanwälte & Notare at the start of 2001.
