PUBLIC PROCUREMENT | CONSTRUCTION AND ARCHITECTURE LAW | LITIGATION AND ARBITRATION |

Already at the beginning of his practice as a lawyer, Boris Waldheim specialised in construction, real-estate and technology projects. This focus was the decisive reason for Kümmerlein Rechtsanwälte & Notare to bring him into the firm as a lateral entrant after his eight years of professional activity at Hölters & Elsing in Düsseldorf. He supports the projects of his clients comprehensively - from an owner-managed medium-sized company to the DAX-listed group. This ranges from concept development and planning to financing and setup up to the completion and economic use. If a dispute cannot be settled early, he represents the interests of his clients before arbitral as well as state courts. To this end, Boris Waldheim provides his work both for the customer side and for the contractor side.

Curriculum Vitae

Boris Waldheim studied at the Albert Ludwig University in Freiburg until 1996. After his second state examination, he has worked at several commercial law firms since 1998, among others at Hölters & Elsing in Düsseldorf. Since 2008, he has been working at Kümmerlein Rechtsanwälte & Notare. Boris Waldheim is a member of the working group for Construction and Real-Estate Law at the DAV (Working Group Construction Law) and regularly is a speaker on topics regarding Construction and Real-Estate Law.

Boris Waldheim speaks German and English.
